They will be dumped after 2023 Assembly polls: DKS

BENGALURU, DHNS
Withdrawal of the revised textbooks, resignation of the education minister and the arrest of writer Rohith Chakrathirha are among the demands put forward by a rights collective that staged a protest here Saturday, giving the government 10 days to fulfill.

Former prime minister H D Deve Gowda, Karnataka Congress president D K Shivakumar, former Supreme Court Justice V Gopala Gowda, former High Court Justice H N Nagmohan Das, pontiffs, writers among others were present. Samiti president G B Patil proposed the charter signed by over 500 people. The demands are: Withdrawal of textbooks framed by the Chakrathirha Committee; continuation of textbooks designed by the previous Baraguru Ramachandrappa commit-

Govt firm on its stand: Nagesh

Primary and Secondary Education Minister B C Nagesh on Saturday reiterated that the government will not withdraw the new school textbooks, but it will make corrections to content based on objections filed by citizens. "The government has already clarified its stand and is firm on it. We will decide on a fresh revision of the textbooks considering the objections received," the minister said. Nagesh said by July 15, the revised textbooks will reach all schools across the state and teachers have been instructed to teach the revised textbooks.

"We've decided to give the government ten days to meet the demands. After that, we will decide the next course of action," Patil announced. Shivakumar tore a copy of the new textbooks to demonstrate his protest. "The government should withdraw the textbooks. Otherwise, after the 2023 Assembly elections, the textbooks will be thrown away," he said. On Friday, Nagesh had met Gowda to dissuade him from participating in the protest. But, not only did Gowda show up at Freedom Park, he told the protest meeting that the agitation should meet its "logical end."

Agnipath violence: T-state cops...

One such WhatsApp group was called 'Hakimpet Army Soldiers', named after an area in Hyderabad with defence establishments and where army recruitment rallies are held. Screenshot of a conversation shows the mention of Avula's presence in Hyderabad a day before the violence.

In an audio clip that surfaced on social media, said to be from the same group, one aspirant was persuading others to carry petrol to burn something down in order to draw attention to their problem. "There is no point shouting slogans, showing banners. Let us set something on fire in two minutes and the news would spread... I am going to bring some petrol, can anyone else join?" the aspirant is heard saying. The police, who have apprehended some youth, have not officially confirmed the authenticity of the groups, messages yet.

Bandi allegations

Bandi laid the blame for Friday's violence at the door of the CM. "The violence, vandalism seen at Secunderabad station was part of a deep-rooted conspiracy hatched at the Telangana chief minister's office to malign the Narendra Modi government at the Centre," Bandi claimed while addressing party workers in Karimnagar on Saturday.

Bandi alleged the destruction was pre-planned. "Genuine army job aspirants who had some misconceptions about Agnipath wanted to register their protest peacefully at the railway station. But anti-social elements joined in, pelted stones at the police and indulged in large-scale demolition. How was it possible for them to carry petrol bottles into the station premises?" the Lok Sabha MP questioned.

Scribe attacked during protest

BENGALURU, DHNS: Home Minister Araga Jnanendra has directed the police to take action against persons who allegedly assaulted a representative of a media outlet during the Freedom

Park protest over the new school textbooks on Saturday. "I have issued instructions to identify and act against those responsible for this as soon as possible," he said.

Afghan Sikh among 2 killed...

Three attackers were reportedly killed by the Taliban forces.

Takor confirmed that at least one member of the Islamic Emirate forces and an Afghan Hindu national were killed in the incident. Seven others were injured and hospitalised.

He said the attackers lobbed at least one grenade when they entered the temple, setting off a blaze in the complex. Minutes later, a car bomb was detonated in the area but caused no casualties, he added.

The blasts occurred in the Karta Parwan area of Kabul. Gunfire was also reported from the area, which is the centre for the Afghan Hindu and Sikh communities.

Footage posted on social media after the attack showed shattered pillars and walls in the temple's main prayer hall, with debris scattered across the floor.

There was no immediate claim of responsibility for the attack.
